

Naomi just got finished DoorDashing, and she has a class in ten minutes.

She's worried because last time she cut it this close, she struggled to find a parking spot on campus and ended up being late to class.

She remembers she has a parking finder app on her phone, so she opens it searching for the best open spot near her class.

She remembers she has a parking finder app on her phone, so she opens it searching for the best open spot near her class.

She finds a perfect spot that can get her to class on time!

She is really happy and satisfied with her experience using the parking finder app.